

Matching Michigan: Funding opportunities for quality improvement and evaluation projects

The National Patient Safety Agency (NPSA), in collaboration with the Intensive Care Society and the World Health Organisation Patient Safety Programme, has a number of opportunities to fund quality improvement work related to Matching Michigan. These funds will give healthcare professionals working in intensive care the opportunity for small scale changes to improve patient care. The value of funds available is £100 to £8,000.

Applicants must be healthcare professionals who are linked to, or working in an intensive care unit participating in the Matching Michigan project. We welcome applications from doctors, nurses, pharmacists, allied health professionals, public health specialists and health service managers.

The deadline is 13:00 on 15 February 2010.
